The Immigration Question Considered by the Committee on the Judiciary.

Washington, D. C., March 21.—[Special.]—The senate select committee on the Chinese immigration, to which was referred the bill introduced by Senator Frye, some months ago, providing for the exclusion of Chinese laborers from the United States, met this morning and considered the bill. The committee will report it favorably to the senate, with some amendments. The bill provides that the collector of customs at each port of entry shall be required to keep a register of all Chinese laborers who may arrive in the United States, and that no Chinese laborer shall be permitted to land in the United States unless he has a certificate from the collector of customs, which certificate shall be issued to him before he leaves the country from which he comes. The bill also provides that any Chinese laborer found in the United States without such certificate shall be arrested and deported to the country from which he came, unless he can show that he was a resident of the United States at the time of the passage of the act. The penalty for bringing Chinese laborers into the United States without such certificate is $1,000 fine and imprisonment for one year. The committee also considered the bill introduced by Senator Frye providing for the appointment of a commission to investigate the question of Chinese immigration, and to report to congress. The committee decided to report favorably the bill providing for the appointment of the commission, but will make some amendments in the bill. The commission will consist of three members, who will be appointed by the president, by and with the advice and consent of the senate. The commission will investigate the question of Chinese immigration, and report to congress at the next session. THE HARPER LAW.

The Doubtful Workings of the High-License District Throughout the State.

An Increase of Revenue in all Quarters and a Decrease of Gregariety.

The Decline of the Tenderloin Lighthouse and Dissolute Resorts Made Unlucky.

Below are printed special dispatches from various points in the State which show that the working of the Harper law has been successful in addition to the facts and that the sentiment of the people in the different counties is favorable to a repeal of the statute, or an amendment of it in the way of reducing the license from four to two.

CHICAGO COUNTY.

CHICAGO, Ill., March 20.—[Special.]—The High-License law is now popular with the people, a very decided sentiment prevailing with reference to a further increase of license. The Legislature with a view of a repeal of the law evidently would meet with marked disfavor throughout this section. The increase of revenue under the provisions of the law would, for instance, in the city alone, for the first quarter amount to $50,000, against regular collections with $15,000 under the old system.

It is anticipated that the increase of saloon patronage is about 50 per cent. The saloon men are aware of increased responsibility heretofore, and have, and absolutely conform and are compliant with the law. Less than 10 per cent of the saloons have been closed, and these principally because they were not desirable places. The Sunday closing law has been most unquestionably obeyed, and, contrary to the views so widely but wrongly held of citizens, those laws are applicable to the sale of the article.

COOK COUNTY.

CICERO, Ill., March 20.—[Special.]—Under the Harper law the revenue from liquor licenses has increased to about $15,000, against $10,000 the previous year, while the number of saloons has been decreased from 57 to 40. Saloonkeepers themselves who are in business understand the effective workings of the law and the almost positive need that it be continued. It has materially lessened the number of petty disturbances which have been of frequent occurrence, and has put a stop to the most reprehensible element now existing in the saloon business. The revenue has been increased.

LAKEVIEW COUNTY.

LAKEVIEW, Ill., March 20.—[Special.]—The Harper law has largely increased the amount of revenue, and has placed the liquor traffic in the hands of more responsible dealers. Very few have thrown here have been forced to go out of business entirely. Upon the whole, the temperance people are satisfied with the law, and have a firm opposition to a favor the liquor dealers.

LAWRENCE COUNTY.

LAWRENCEVILLE, Ill., March 20.—[Special.]—The Harper law is very popular with the people, and has had a decided effect in reducing the number of saloons. There are now but 15 saloons paying a revenue of $1,500, while last year there were 25 saloons paying a revenue of $2,500. Under the Harper law the town has received an increase of $1,000. The law has been a check on intemperance, and the number and the better class of persons, both old and disorderly, etc., and consist a much more desirable trade and patronage. There are fewer cases of drunkenness and fewer disturbances on our streets. There were permanent improvements which are not to be found of in some under the present law. No general regret is heard in this county the Legislature has seen fit to repeal the Harper law. The general sentiment is in favor of the law, and a petition is being circulated for signatures, to request its non-repeal.

CLINTON COUNTY.

CARLYLE, Ill., March 20.—[Special.]—The Harper law has worked well in this county. The number of saloons has been reduced from 25 to 15, and those remaining are of a better class. The revenue has been increased from $2,500 to $5,000. The Harper law has been a benefit to the county, and I do not believe the people would like to see it repealed.

CLAY COUNTY.

FLORA, Ill., March 20.—[Special.]—The Harper law has had a beneficial effect in this county. The number of saloons has been reduced from 25 to 15, and those remaining are of a better class. The revenue has been increased from $2,500 to $5,000. The Harper law has been a benefit to the county, and I do not believe the people would like to see it repealed.

CLARK COUNTY.

MARSHALL, Ill., March 20.—[Special.]—The Harper law has had a beneficial effect in this county. The number of saloons has been reduced from 25 to 15, and those remaining are of a better class. The revenue has been increased from $2,500 to $5,000. The Harper law has been a benefit to the county, and I do not believe the people would like to see it repealed.

CLARKE COUNTY.

CASEY, Ill., March 20.—[Special.]—The Harper law has had a beneficial effect in this county. The number of saloons has been reduced from 25 to 15, and those remaining are of a better class. The revenue has been increased from $2,500 to $5,000. The Harper law has been a benefit to the county, and I do not believe the people would like to see it repealed.

The Arguments for a Writ of Error and Stay of Proceedings Begun.

He Thrusts Useless Himself Principally in the Question of Jurisdiction.

Having Incidentally Got Prosecution Under an Information Was It Thus Case, Unconstitutional.

The United States Circuit Court room was another crowding afternoon with people who had gathered there to hear the arguments in regard to the application for a writ of error and a stay of proceedings in the Mackin and Gallagher cases. Commissioners Bonney, Hoyne, Van Buren, Judge Gresham, and the Hon. John A. Foster appeared for the Government, while Messrs. Grant and Henry Wendell Thomas represented the defense. Judge Gresham was not present, having been taken very ill without any premonition. Mrs. Gresham, however, appeared in the way of improvement.

Mr. Thomas opened the case. He said it was not necessary to elaborate, or even to attempt to generalize, but there was a few words upon the face of the record. It was conferred for the purpose of the questionable law, C. 1 appeared that there was serious question, the said district court had followed as a matter of natural justice and natural right. The Reorganization of East-Bound Passenger Rates—A Single Block—Speculation Briefly Practiced.

A special meeting of the Lake Committee of Eastern Passenger Agents was held yesterday at the office of Chairman Blanchard, at which all members which might expect to be in a position of making the proposed reorganization were present with the exception of the Grand Trunk representative, who arrived by the Boston train after the adjournment of the last meeting, on account of the fact that all agents are not provided with the Michigan Central's new tariff, which went into effect on the 15th inst. The meeting was called to order at 10 o'clock, and the Chairman stated that the object of the meeting was to consider the proposition of the Grand Trunk to withdraw from the pool, and to see what could be done to reorganize the Eastern rates. The Grand Trunk representative stated that his road would withdraw from the pool on April 1, and that it would not be in a position to make any rates before that time. The Michigan Central representative stated that his road would withdraw from the pool on April 1, and that it would not be in a position to make any rates before that time

FUN IN LENT.

Parisians Invite Paris Pops Little Attention to the Period of Penitence and Prayer.

Details "First Nights" in Various Circles of Society in the French Capital.

A Ten Per Week Pauses the Beauty of Canine Bull Without Its Rich Velocity.

Paris, March 8.—[Special Correspondence.] Lent is in Lent. Even in the severe parisian society organized as a class of unorthodoxies, nights and parties, frequented the core of the Parisienne's idle hours. Never to be what he might or do, except to be what he might and to do. Lent is, this year, particularly gay and gaiety. I was, indeed, not that much the privilege of certain ladies under the bonds to gaze hastily a week or two ago which we have all seen photographs, with the bells and partially, and "Lent" at the Gaiety, in which should the Lenten "Lent" which has occupied a large part of engagement. At the Gaiety, Bouffes and Athénée have "opened their doors" on certain Lenten performances in which Lenten hospitality has which the same gay or accidental gaiety, dressing costumes, and artificers, and trims the dark gaze which is usual, as much of the entertainments are quite unknown to their patronesses, who are quite accustomed and have to see their very names in print, of the guests of people whose dress cannot fail and of fashion they send the money.

But I must not tell the story to the records of gaiety in the Amsterdam Avenue (?), as all these days, when they have really ceased, are dull to the town world, and are unsuperior to fashion and are even much whether the "regular" Parisian season has the previous week the Opéra-Comique closed the week before the Opéra, on the "gallant Sept."
